Dear Adi,

Your quest for disseminating your knowledge as you presented the history of Israel through the ages left us struck by your professionalism and patience.

Our trip was no longer a dream, for you, Adi, brought the ancient peoples and Kings of Israel into unforgettable reality.

Conversations with you during a humus lunch on a street in the market place or at Mt. Hermon or a fine restaurant in the countryside will always remain very special. We were often mesmerized with your vast knowledge of Israel - current and past.

At the Sea of Galilee (for the grand sailing in a wooden sailboat), we will never forget how you climbed over and around boulders to retrieve my hat that had blown away in the wind. Another time was when you and Ron walked far and wide thru a market place looking for a particular Ram toy for our dog "Angel". We now have it in our home in Wisconsin. We have named him “Ramesey the Fourth”. Using his full name, Angel will locate and carry him around the house!

From Jerusalem – south to the Dead Sea – we experienced a surprise sighting of a family of gazelles. Back north to Masada, this in its self was worth the trip! Before the day ended the encore was a camel ride! We were thrilled and amazed to experience it all.

Throughout the days, other notable experiences of our amazing schedule were the River Jordan and the steps of Jesus where he walked carrying the cross. Back in Adi’s comfortable touring car driving further north to Mt. Hermon where in the distance we actually saw Syria knowing Damascus was only 60 kilometers away! Eventually driving south to the coast, we arrived at Caesarea, another spectacular sight. Next, Tel Aviv - a city where the past meets the future – awe inspiring Museums housing in part the Dead Sea Scrolls, the Holocaust and Modern Art. Adi, through it all, you were there for us accommodating, kind and patient!

Ron and I are also very appreciative of the knowledge you gave us on the reality of what is happening not only in Israel but also in the Middle East.

We were always impressed while driving along the highways to see fruit trees rising above the many miles of green. Throughout the tour, we realized that Israel is a nation of hard working people, driven and looking for peace and prosperity.

We thank you and wish you well!

Penny and Ron

P.S. Adi, we cannot recall the name of the very fine gentleman who pushed my wheelchair up and down hills for three days. He and his strength were true miracles. With our deep appreciation always, we send him our grateful thanks. May we have his name and email address, if possible?
